BIG DAMAGES ASKED

Mr. Thomas A. Nevins Sues Paducahans for $54,000.

Is the Purchaser of the Paducah Coal and Mining Company's Property.

SUIT FILED IN FEDERAL COURT

One of the largest suits ever instituted in Paducah was filed in federal court here last evening by Attorneys Wheeler and Hughes of the city for Thomas A. Nevins of New Jersey, one of the new owners of the Paducah Coal and Mining Co., against the following: George Rock, W. F. Paxton, T. J. Flournoy, Ed. Woolfolk, George O. Wallace and Mrs. May Wallace, Paducah, and Isaac Reese and Mrs. Lulu Reese of Memphis. The amount asked for in the petition is $54,000 damages.

The plaintiff recites that he is a resident of the state of New Jersey, and that March 31, 1902, he purchased the properties of the Paducah Coal and Mining Co., which belonged to the above defendants.

This property, he alleges, was represented to him to contain 3,400 acres of coal lands in Crittenden and Union counties, 300 acres in fee simple, a standard gauge railroad from the mines near Sturgis to the tipples on the Ohio river, in Union County, two locomotives and about forty coal cars, two river tipples, one on the Ohio and one on the Tradewater river, a coal elevator, furniture and appurtenances, thirty barges and two steamboats, all in good condition; one tug, one pump boat, a large quantity of coal out of ground and ready for market, and other things.

The plaintiff avers that he accepted these statements as true and on the representations made to him paid a valuable consideration for the property of the defendants, but that only 2,900 acres of land sold to him and paid for by him is included in the property. He has made demand for the remaining 500 acres of coal lands, he claims, and they have not been deeded him, and he accordingly sues for $50,000 for the 500 acres of land constituting the alleged shortage.

He claims further that one of the boats sold as being in good condition was not and that $3,000 had to be spent on it before it could be used, and sues for this amount also, $3,000.

He claims that the quantity of coal out of ground and marketable was not turned over to him, and sues for $1,000 damages for the loss of that, asking for a total of $54,000.

Mr. Nevins is well known in Paducah, and the towboat Thomas A. Nevins was named after him. He is now up in Crittenden and Union counties on business.

The defendants do not seem to feel any uneasiness over the suit. It is understood that the property was sold to Mr. Nevins after his legal representative had examined all the deeds, papers and other documents, and that no deeds were made to anyone, the company's stock simply being sold to Mr. Nevins. It is understood it will be claimed that the boat alleged to have been in bad repair was in good repair, had been repaired only a short time before and running regularly.

The suit comes up before Judge Walter Evans in November.

SENT TO POOR FARM—Mrs. Martha Morris and Mrs. Annie Meyers, of the northern part of the city were sent to the county poor farm yesterday afternoon.

DRAGGED A BLOCK

Mr. L. Newhouse Badly, if Not Fatally Hurt Today.

Colored Bicyclist Frightens Horse—May Be Broken in Victim.

CAR HITS COUNTRY WAGON

Mr. L. Newhouse, traveling representative of a Chicago concern which manufactures a fine extinguishing powder, was badly injured in a runaway this morning about 11:30 o'clock near Eight and Boyd streets while riding over the city advertising his goods.

Mr. Newhouse was riding in a rig furnished by the Farmer Transfer Co., with Tin Enos, colored, driver, and at Eighth and Boyd streets a negro bicyclist attempted to cross in front of the horse and slipped to the ground under the animal's feet. The bicyclist had a basket on his arm and in falling struck the horse, which wheeled around and turned the buggy over, throwing both driver and occupant out. A Newhouse alighted under the wheels and the driver fell just outside and escaped serious injury.

The horse reared at a frightful gallop for a square, dragging the unfortunate drummer all that distance. After having run for fully a block the he collided with a telephone pole and stopped.

Drs. J. Robertson and Adrian Hoyer were summoned and after making a hasty examination removed the patient in ambulance to the Lag-uardians hotel, where he is stopping. After a more careful examination the injuries were found to be even more serious than at first supposed. The left leg was crushed and broken in several places below the knee, and the physicians placed a temporary dressing on the limb until it repairs sufficiently to enable them to place a permanent dressing in place.

Mr. Newhouse's face was also badly injured, the drummer having been dragged on his face. His nose is broken and the left side of the face badly cut and bruised.

Drs. Robertson and Hoyer think Mr. Newhouse will recover, but say it will require much time, as his injuries are very serious. He has been here a few days only, having Wednesday made a test of his fire extinguisher at Second and Broadway. His firm will be notified of the accident this afternoon by telegraph, but Mr. Newhouse will likely not be removed for several days yet.

At noon today Mrs. D. N. Futrell and Mrs. Jane Howard, two ladies of the county who had been to market with vegetables, were painfully injured in an accident at Fourth and Jefferson streets. They were going north and car 59, Motorman Froese, was going south. The motorman claims he did not think they were going to try to cross the track, and the ladies informed a reporter that they didn't see the car until it was too late. When they turned and started across the track the motorman attempted to stop the car, but it was too late.

The light spring wagon was struck with such violence that the two ladies were thrown out. Mrs. Howard's right side of her head painfully hurt and her hand badly skinned, but the other lady's injuries were not so painful. Both, however, were painfully bruised and shaken up, and were cared for at a house at Fourth and Jefferson. The wagon was not damaged much and the horse was not hurt.

W. L. Ledford, who was injured in a street car accident several nights ago, was removed yesterday afternoon at 6:05 o'clock to Roaring Springs, Ky., where his family resides. He has never entirely regained his right mind, but talks rationally on most subjects. He cannot tell how he got hurt, however, and his mind is a blank from the time he got on the car at First and Broadway until he became conscious.

LICENSE COMMITTEE

KILLED IN THE FIELD

Christian County Farmers Have Trouble and One Shot.

General Cassius Clay Is Crazy, Not Sick—Miners Strike at Wheatcroft, Ky.

LOUISVILLE PEOPLE TOASTED

FARMER KILLED IN CHRISTIAN Hopkinsville, July 3.—James Grant shot and killed Harrison Hamby in the field this morning. The men were farmers in the Sinking Fork neighborhood. Hamby was plowing when Grant appeared with a shotgun and accused him of talking about his daughters in a disparaging way.

Grant repeated what he had heard Hamby said, and asked if he said it. Grant's story is that Hamby laughed and said, "Yes I said it." These were his last words. Grant shot him dead in his tracks, the load entering his breast at short range. No other witnesses have yet appeared, and the version given is as Grant himself tells it.

GENERAL CLAY INSANE.

Lexington, July 3.—General Cassius M. Clay, is believed to be hopelessly insane at White Hall, in Madison county. Dr. Bullerok, of Louisville, and W. O. Bullerok, of this city, were sent to White Hall at the request of Clay, who stated that he needed medical attention, but they were not permitted to enter the mansion after they got there.
